

Schlangers' Son Wed In Los Angeles

Of interest to the many Torrance friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Schlanger, owners of the Torrance Men's Shop, is the marriage of their son, Louis David, to Rita Ann Sankey, daughter of Mrs. Jeanne Sankey of Los Angeles.

The nuptials were performed last Sunday afternoon by Rabbi Jacob Pressman of Olympic Temple in the garden of the bride's mother's home, 1045 S. Burnside Ave. Mrs. Jean Hodel was the bride's single attendant and Herbert J. Cohn, brother in law of the groom, was best man.

For her wedding Miss Sankey chose a ballerina length gown of white lace. She wore a finger tip veil and carried a white Bible with an orchid, lilies of the valley, and stephanotis. The matron of honor was attired in a beige dress and carried an old-fashioned heart shaped bouquet of yellow tea roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and her brother, Harold. Over 150 friends and relatives feted the newlyweds at the reception before they left on a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. Among the out of town guests were the bride's brother, Stewart Sankey of New York, an aunt, Mrs. Sonya Smith of Winnipeg, Canada. Others were the groom's aunts, Mrs. Abe Gluckman of Staten Island, N. Y. and Mrs. William Smallman of Newark, N. J. and cousin, Herbert Smallman, also of Newark.

The bridegroom, an infantry sergeant, recently returned from 10 months in Korea and is stationed at Camp Roberts. He attended Los Angeles City College and El Camino College and plans to join his father at the Men's Shop upon his release from active duty. The bride was graduated from Los Angeles High School.

"Kids to Camp" Campaign Begins Today in Torrance

"Kids to Camp Week" begins today in Torrance with the launching of a community-wide drive for funds to send more local boys and girls to summer camps.

Long recognized by youth leaders as an important part of a year-round recreational program, camping will not be available to scores of youngsters unless more money is obtained.

One Red Feather agency particularly interested in gaining additional camping funds is the Torrance branch YWCA. Its Y-Teen girls raised some money through their recent carnival, but not enough to pay the expenses of all members who wish to go to camp.

To date the Harbor District Soroptimist Club, represented in Torrance by Mmes. Mae Leake, Margaret Neff and Winona Ellis, is the only group which has responded to the appeal of the YWCA.

Through this week's campaign, both the YW and the other organizations serving boys and girls hope to reach serving clubs and groups and enable them to invest in the citizens to tomorrow.

The fund-raising program, which is being conducted among nearly 2500 adult organizations in the area served by the Los Angeles Community Chest, grew out of a recent Metropolitan Los Angeles Welfare Council Survey.

Results of the survey showed that only six of every 100 children in the lower income groups attended camp last year. It showed that the average cost per week per camper is only $20, but added to this are transportation, food, equipment, insurance and medical costs which must come from other sources.

Only treasury gifts are being asked for in the campaign to help Torrance kids go to camp. There will be no individual solicitation.

Club to Fete First Member Becoming 30

Friendships enduring over the years from high school days to adulthood are few and far between, but a group of girls who organized a club in May, 1938, still meet every fortnight.

Known as the Teeners Club, the young women will honor the first of their members to reach her 30th birthday on June 20. Ruth Hankey Newland will be the first of the members feted in this manner. Similar parties are planned for the others when they reach 30 years.

All members of the group are now married, and most of them have families. They gathered at Allen Center Officers' Club on Terminal Island with their husbands for an evening of dancing following dinner one recent Saturday evening.

Members of the group included Mmes. Charles Belcher (Reba Mathews), Phillip Alan Lucas (Marion Robinson), Richard K. Brown (Jenoyne Barkdull), Robert Cahn (Marjorie Rusk), Howard Foster (Margaret Moon), E. O. Myers (Norma Warthan), and John Woods (Anne McAnally).

Others are Mmes. Robert Sleeth (Jean Clark), Carl Reis (Bobbi Weber), Robert Walters (Hazel Burehett), Robert Elper (Peggy Shawyer), Eugene Fancher (Helena Fanthorpe), Van Barnard (Elizabeth Fish), and Bill Felts (Shirley Guttenfelder).

MUCH ADO ABOUT . . .

By MARJIE MEYER

Fond farewells, for once again we're off to the hinterlands, and this time not the least bit sure of which state they're located in.

There's absolutely nothing like being a Navy wife for a change of scenery, ask any woman who is or has ever been one. You no sooner get your feet more or less firmly on the ground than whoosh! ORDERS.

We've enjoyed Torrance, and shall sing the praises of its wonderful people wherever we walk. We've enjoyed the Herald, the mad rushes of elections (clubs, PTAs and auxiliaries in addition to the larger local and national ones), seeing pretty young misses become engaged to and marry handsome young men, and oh, a myriad of things.

Suddenly the smell of ink and the sound of typewriters, linotypes and other machines we don't know the names of are going to be behind us, replaced by the clank of pots and pans. We'll miss those too, for sounds are half the life of a newspaper.

It has been rather thrilling to watch a weekly paper expand to semi-weekly status, and take on eight community papers besides. It points up the growing community, and the interest expressed by its residents.

Our voice will have to get used to saying "Mrs. Smith" again (did we confuse you? and using our maiden name?) and soon!
